

Over Here, Preparing for Over There

AN AFTERNOON CONVERSATION WITH WWI SCHOLARS AND AUTHORS

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 25 2PM

HISTORY MUSEUM

332 MAINE STREET – QUINCY, ILLINOIS

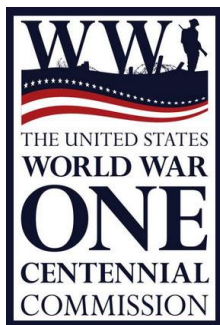

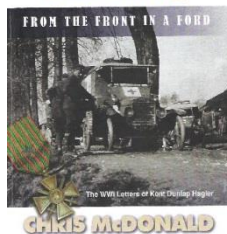

The Historical Society of Quincy & Adams County invites you to discover history and revisit the "Great War" at an afternoon program with Dr. Chris McDonald and Dr. Ross Kennedy. The event will take place on Saturday, February 25, at 2 pm at the History Museum at 332 Maine St. in Quincy. The program format will be in an interview style to maximize the conversation and audience participation. There will be an opportunity to meet the WWI authors, have them sign your book and hear inspiring and moving music of the "Great War" period. Call (217) 222-1835 or go to www.hsqac.org for more information.

Dr. Chris McDonald

Dr. McDonald is a senior political science professor at Lincoln Land Community College in Springfield, Illinois. He is the author of Three Lying or Four Sitting – From the Front in a Ford, which details the combat experience of Kent Dunlap Hagler of Springfield, Illinois. Dr. McDonald spent extensive time reviewing the letters of Mr. Hagler and offers a very personal and amazing wartime account of a young man from Central Illinois in war-torn Europe. McDonald has a Ph.D. in political science and government from the University of Georgia and was named a Pearson Master Teacher at Lincoln Land Community College in 2001.
